FEAR I. W. W. RAID ON ART MUSEUM

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 10.—Fifteen uniformed policemen and a squad of detectives were detailed to the Metropolitan Museum of Art today as a result of rumors that Industrial Workers of the World were plotting to destroy the $50,000,000 collection of the late J. Pierpont Morgan.

The rumors originated from a visit paid to the museum by a leader of the I. W. W. who has made many threats. An investigation began immediately after he had been there revealed no definite foundation for the rumors, but additional guard will be kept on duty for several days.

Extraordinary steps of precaution are being taken by the police to guard against an outbreak at tomorrow's meeting of the unemployed.
The I. W. W. leaders declare they will hold the meeting even if permission for the gathering is refused.

"Life on the Prairies."

Again St. Peter's Glee Club will present to the public an original musical comical and dramatic entertainment. This time it is "Coyote Bill's Wild West Show." The action takes at Wounded Knee, S. D. Scene two will be an evening on the ranch.
There will be a chorus of 80 cowboys and cowgirls. Indians and squaws, with their sunburn and warpaints and full regalia. You will be interested to see what happened to the six comic recruits, who came to join the show, also Vaseline, the clown will be there. The songs are plenty and taken from the latest shows also the jokes, monologues, etc., are just coined and will be sprung for the first time. The show will be full of western life songs, jokes, etc.
The broncho will be there and you'll burst laughing to see the recruits from Kingston trying to break him in. This entertainment has been arranged and staged by one who experienced western life himself and who keeps in touch with the best and latest of music. The show will take place on Easter Monday and Tuesday at 8 p. m., and there will be a matinee on Sunday at 3 p. m.

Dead Deer Found.

On Tuesday Sergeant Dorsey and Patrolman Seebeck of the board of water supply police found the carcass of a deer near the commissary and carried it to the barracks and notified Game Protector DeWitt of this city. The deer had evidently been shot and killed a few days before it was found. This is the second deer that has been shot in that vicinity in the past few weeks.

The Municipal League.

Municipal League will be held in the Kingston City Library this evening.

so that individual members may attend the public hearing on the charter bill.

Esopus Has Not Overflowed.

This is the first season in a number of years that the Esopus creek has not overflowed its banks after the ice had gone out, and while the water has been extremely high the retaining of the water in the Ashokan reservoir has prevented a freshet in the creek.

Two passenger ..... $495.00 f. o. b. Detroit
With careful study on several parts which run up into money on an automobile and having the necessary machinery to turn out those parts in one-half the time that it would cost to turn out on much bigger priced cars, we have brought those parts down to a minimum, therefore dividing our profits with you. You will never regret it if you own this car, and furthermore a year's guarantee goes with it. Will other automobile concerns do that? Try it and see. It will be worth your while to look us up.

UTAH STORM MAY SPOIL EASTER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 10.—A storm now in Utah threatens to spoil the Easter parade, according to the government weather experts today.

Rain for the Fifth Avenue procession in New York is forecasted. It may be clear in Atlantic City and Washington.

The general Easter outlook for the states east of the Mississippi is unsettled and warmer. There may be some snow around the Great Lakes and in northern New England. In the St. Louis and Kansas City districts it is expected to be fair. Rain is predicted for that region tonight or tomorrow but it will clear by Easter Sunday.

In Minneapolis and thence westward, fair but cold weather will prevail.

In the southland Easter will be fair and warm.

"Why did she want to set her husband's will aside?"
"Merely because it was her husband's and she had got in the habit of setting it aside."—Houston Post.

We must not take the faults of our youth into our old age, for old age brings with it its own defects.—Goethe.

The British house of lords is going to try and stop the sale of titles to all American heiresses excepted.

For a man who is continually dodging the authorities King George seems to wear his head pretty straight.

UTAH STORM MAY SPOIL EASTER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 10.—A storm now in Utah threatens to spoil the Easter parade, according to the government weather experts today.

Rain for the Fifth Avenue procession in New York is forecasted. It may be clear in Atlantic City and Washington.

The general Easter outlook for the states east of the Mississippi is unsettled and warmer. There may be some snow around the Great Lakes and in northern New England. In the St. Louis and Kansas City districts it is expected to be fair. Rain is predicted for that region tonight or tomorrow but it will clear by Easter Sunday.

In Minneapolis and thence westward, fair but cold weather will prevail.

In the southland Easter will be fair and warm.

Fighting in Tripoli.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Bengazi, Tripoli, April 10.—One hundred Arabs and three Italian soldiers were killed when hostile tribesmen made an attack upon the Italianarrison at Bugazal today. The Arabs were driven off leaving their dead behind. Seven Italian soldiers were wounded.

Snakes in the Bottle.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Gary, Ind., April 10.—Felix Greata, a steel worker, was arrested today because he was trying to force his wife to join him in drinking whiskey from a bottle that also contained two young snakes.

Ice on Cooper's Lake.

John H. Harrison, superintendent of the water department, said this morning that there was two feet of ice on Cooper's Lake on Tuesday. There is still much snow and ice through that section of the county.

The S. F. Walking Club.

A number of our young ladies who are fond of open air exercise have organized the S. F. Walking Club and anticipate walking many miles each week.

Force of Habit.

"Why did she want to set her husband's will aside?"

"Merely because it was her husband's and she had got in the habit of setting it aside."—Houston Post.

We must not take the faults of our youth into our old age, for old age brings with it its own defects.—Goethe.

The British house of lords is going to try and stop the sale of titles to all American heiresses excepted.

For a man who is continually dodging the law, King George seems to wear his head pretty straight.

A Japanese admiral has been charged with grafting, and he may be expected to declare it was quite accidental.

Lay's Great Easter Meat and Poultry Sale

Some of us have fasted during Lent—some of us didn't—but all will agree that there is no better breakfast for Easter or any other morning than mild sugar-cured ham or bacon—the kind that leaves a lingering memory of juicy, delicate flavor, with just a suggestion of the "tang" of hickory log smoke. The hams we refer to are Swift's Premium brand and other kinds, which we have marked at a special price for Saturday.

We also wish to announce that we shall discontinue the making of Bockwurst after Easter. Saturday the last opportunity to obtain some of these dainty tid-bits will be given for 1914.

For our Easter Sale Saturday we have laid in a specially fine line of meats and poultry, and as we expect a tremendous rush on that day we ask patrons to order early so as to insure prompt delivery.

Lay's Great Easter Meat and Poultry Sale

Some of us have fasted during Lent—some of us didn't—but all will agree that there is no better breakfast for Easter or any other morning than mild sugar-cured ham or bacon—the kind that leaves a lingering memory of juicy, delicate flavor, with just a suggestion of the "tang" of hickory log smoke. The hams we refer to are Swift's Premium brand and other kinds, which we have marked at a special price for Saturday.

We also wish to announce that we shall discontinue the making of Bockwurst after Easter. Saturday the last opportunity to obtain some of these dainty tid-bits will be given for 1914.

For our Easter Sale Saturday we have laid in a specially fine line of meats and poultry, and as we expect a tremendous rush on that day we ask patrons to order early so as to insure prompt delivery.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 10.—Willie Ritchie, the well-known punching person, is in a sorry plight. Since he has been champion Willie has defeated three of the four best Americans in his class. The other is Tommy Murphy, who calls New York his home. Willie tackles Tommy on the coast next week, and from all the pre-scrap dope, Willie ought to win by a wide margin.

If he does, Willie will have eliminated every native who has been a championship contender. That will leave nothing but second raters for him to swap punches with. Willie has vowed and determined that he never would fight for less than $10,000 as his share of the receipts. And it so happens that no fight promoter will risk guaranteeing Willie that sum for a battle against such fighters as Young Shugrue, Jack Britton, Johnny Dundee and others.

And so it looks just now that if Willie wallows Tommy and he can't arrange terms for a fight with Freddie Welsh, who comes from England, it looks as if Willie will either have to bust his $10,000 or "no fight" vow, or go fightless, and eventually do what Jimmy Jeffries, a California farmer did—retire.

Ritchie has been offered $6,000 to meet Young Shugrue in New York but he has spurned that total. And the fight promoters do not feel justified in offering him more, as they think that with Shugrue as Ritchie's opponent the house will not draw well.

An offer of $8,000 to meet Jack Britton in New York also has been made to the champion, and he turned his nose up at it in a disdainful manner. A similar offer to Ritchie to meet Johnny Dundee, the New York battler, received similar treatment. "Scotty" Monteith, manager of Dundee, is so confident that his man can take Ritchie's measure, and, incidentally, Ritchie's crown, that he probably will agree to make up the difference between the $8,000 offered and the $10,000 asked by Ritchie out of his own pocket. But Ritchie's financial temperament is such that many believe if Monteith volunteers to donate the extra $2,000 the champ at once will boost his price to $12,000 or $15,000.

It is possible that if the fighting game is revived at Coney Island, New York, and a pavilion erected, that the promoters will attempt to get Ritchie and Welsh together for the opening bout. But that action would depend a lot on what happens to Welsh when he swaps punches with Leach Cross, the New York lightweight.

If Welsh knocks out Cross, or wins from him in a decisive manner, the public will clamor for a meeting between the American and British champion. But if Welsh gets nothing better than a draw from Cross, Ritchie can murmur something about "go get a reputation" to any of Welsh's challengers. Ritchie, it may be remembered, defeated Cross in a rather decisive fashion in New York in November in a ten round bout, and many are of the opinion that he would have landed a sleep punch against the jaws of Cross had the bout gone several rounds longer. Ritchie seemed to be just warming up to his task when the final gong rang.

While on the subject of famine, retirement and things of that sort, one might pause for a moment and consider the "white hope" persons. It's almost time that somebody—besides themselves—felt sorry for them with the sporting season coming on and the closed arenas for the open baseball stadiums it will mean that a lean season is ahead for those who make their living primarily through appearing in the prize ring. Many of the "white hope" persons who have been grabbing off easy money during the past winter by performing some sea-lion antics under the name of fighting will not get any more easy money until autumn comes again. Unless those chaps stowed away some of the shekels, they garnered last winter from a gullible public they will have to go back to their old jobs of whitewashing, brick-laying, long-shoring, piano-moving and railroadng, or starve.

As an after thought, we think that starving would be the best thing for those fellows, anyway. The excess bulk some of them tacked into the ring in some of the "fights" would have made the fat lady and the fat man in Barnum's circus green with envy.

ASKS $5,000 FOR SPANKING.

Kingston Woman Sues Her Father For Large Sum. The weighty and perhaps delicate question of a father's right to turn his daughter, seventeen years old, across his knee and spank her until she could not sit down painlessly is being adjudicated by Justice Kelly, in supreme court, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Lena Israel, now twenty-one years old and living with her husband, in Kingston, N. Y., has begun an action against her father, Isaac Goldman, who lives at No. 399 Knickerbocker avenue Brooklyn, for $5,000, her affidavit stating that she suffered that much physical pain and mental humiliation because of the spanking. The spanking occurred in the Goldman home in April, four years ago, when the girl was living with her parents, and before she met the man who is now her husband. Like all romances that become best sellers the reader is left to imagine much. The papers do not state why Mr. Goldman found it necessary to lay his mature and rather large daughter across his knee, nor how he accomplished this. But everyone with experience readily knows that the subject of spanking is always laid down and across the paternal knee and that the old Tom Sawyer story of concealing a pillow for protection has been proved to be a fable.

Nor do the papers in the case state whether a slipper or a butter paddle was employed. The bride does state, however, that following the spanking she "was lame and sore."

The case was to have come up last week but because Mrs. Israel's attorney failed to appear the action was dismissed, and yesterday her husband asked to have it placed back on the docket. In opposing this Mr. Goldman's attorney, Isador Buxbaum, contended that there was no law that prevents a parent from spanking a minor child whom he is supporting. The girl was a stenographer and typist when she was spanked, but her wages were so low that her father supported her, the lawyer contended, and therefore he had the right to spank her. Not until after she was married did Mrs. Israel complain about the spanking, and Mr. Goldman said he believed that her husband, who is named as her guardian, is not acting in good faith. Justice Kelly reserved decision.—New York Herald.

FEAST OF THE PASSOVER.

Oldest Feast on the Jewish Calendar Begins Today.

Beginning today, Pesach the annual Feast of the Passover or of Unleavened Bread will be celebrated in Jewish homes and synagogues. This, the oldest feast of the Jewish calendar, carries us back well nigh thirty-three hundred years. The awakening of spring has its normal appeal and its practical symbolism to every primitive people. The agricultural aspect of this holiday is seen in the phrase "That it is to be kept in the season of the Month of Ripenings," when the barley sown in winter has become ripe and when an offering consisting of an omer (one-half gallon) of barley was brought in gratitude to the Giver of all good.

The historical significance of the festival has over-shadowed its agricultural aspect. As the Feast of Freedom it commemorates the emancipation of Israel from Egyptian bondage and the people's entrance into the dignity and destiny of national life. It marks the birth of the Hebrew people. The main characteristic of its celebration has always been domestic; in the homes the families and the invited friends gather on the first evening (in conservative homes also on the second evening) to recount in song and story and amid appropriate symbolism the deliverance of Israel. The main symbols of this Seder service are the Roasted Lamb Bone reminding them of the lamb that was slaughtered as a sacrifice of the covenant; second, the matzah or unleavened bread to be eaten during the whole week, recalling not only the hasty preparation with which the Israelites hurried out of Egypt but also their absolute reliance upon God and readiness to trust in His leadership of them; and the bitter herbs suggesting vividly the bitter life of their forefathers in Egypt which, even today, have not lost their poignant application. Two other symbols of the feast, the four cups of wine allowed to each one are symbolic of the fourfold phrase in which God couched the first "Declaration of Independence," and the cup of wine meant for the prophet Elijah who, always present in spirit, brought ever anew the message of undying hope of the Messianic reign of universal justice, freedom and peace. The Feast of the Passover has not lost its thrilling significance to the modern Jew. To those still pining in slavery in Russia and Rumania, it sings the song of ultimate redemption, while to those living under the blessed flag of freedom it teaches the undying lesson of gratitude together with an appreciation of the higher civic duties and responsibilities of civic and religious liberty.

The Feast of the Passover begins this evening and last eight days. The regular Friday evening services will be held in Temple Emanuel this evening at 7:30 and will include the due reference to Passover. After the services a public Seder will be held in essentially the same way as it is done on this night in the overwhelming majority of Jewish households throughout the world. The services tomorrow morning at Temple Emanuel will take place at 10 o'clock.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, April 10.—Willie Ritchie, the well-known punching person, is in a sorry plight.

Since he has been champion Willie has defeated three of the four best Americans in his class. The other is Tommy Murphy, who calls New York his home. Willie tackles Tommy on the coast next week, and from all the pre-scrap dope, Willie ought to win by a wide margin.

If he does, Willie will have eliminated every native who has been a championship contender. That will leave nothing but second raters for him to swap punches with. Willie has vowed and determined that he never would fight for less than $10,000 as his share of the receipts. And it so happens that no fight promoter will risk guaranteeing Willie that sum for a battle against such fighters as Young Shugrue, Jack Britton, Johnny Dundee and others.

And so it looks just now that if Willie wallows Tommy and he can't arrange terms for a fight with Freddie Welsh, who comes from England, it looks as if Willie will either have to bust his $10,000 or "no fight" vow, or go fightless, and eventually do what Jimmy Jeffries, a California farmer did—retire.

Ritchie has been offered $6,000 to meet Young Shugrue in New York but he has spurned that total. And the fight promoters do not feel justified in offering him more, as they think that with Shugrue as Ritchie's opponent the house will not draw well.

An offer of $8,000 to meet Jack Britton in New York also has been made to the champion, and he turned his nose up at it in a disdainful manner. A similar offer to Ritchie to meet Johnny Dundee, the New York fighter, received similar treatment.

"Scotty" Monteith, manager of Dundee, is so confident that his man can take Ritchie's measure, and, incidentally, Ritchie's crown, that he probably will agree to make up the difference between the $8,000 offered and the $10,000 asked by Ritchie out of his own pocket. But Ritchie's financial temperament is such that many believe if Monteith volunteers to donate the extra $2,000 the champ at once will boost his price to $12,000 or $15,000.

It is possible that if the fighting game is revived at Coney Island, New York, and a pavilion erected, that the promoters will attempt to get Ritchie and Welsh together for the opening bout. But that action would depend a lot on what happens to Welsh when he swaps punches with Leach Cross, the New York lightweight.

If Welsh knocks out Cross, or wins from him in a decisive manner, the public will clamor for a meeting between the American and British champion. But if Welsh gets nothing better than a draw from Cross, Ritchie can murmur something about "go get a reputation" to any of Welsh's challengers. Ritchie, it may be remembered, defeated Cross in a rather decisive fashion in New York in November in a ten round bout, and many are of the opinion that he would have landed a sleep punch against the jaws of Cross had the bout gone several rounds longer. Ritchie seemed to be just warming up to his task when the final gong rang.

While on the subject of famine, retirement and things of that sort, one might pause for a moment and consider the "white hope" persons. It's almost time that somebody besides themselves—felt sorry for them, with the summer season coming on and the sporting public forsaking the closed arenas for the open baseball stadiums it will mean that a lean season is ahead for those who make their living primarily through appearing in the prize ring.

Many of the "white hope" persons who have been grabbing off easy money during the past winter by performing some sea-lion antics under the name of fighting will not get any more easy money until autumn comes again. Unless those chaps stowed away some of the shekels, they earned last winter from a gullible public they will have to go back to their old jobs of whitewashing, brick-laying, long-shoring, piano-moving and railroading, or starve.

As an after thought, we think that starving would be the best thing for those fellows, anyway. The excess bulk some of them tacked into the ring in some of the "fights" would have made the fat lady and the fat man in Barnum's circus green with envy.

ASKS $5,000 FOR SPANKING.

Kingston Woman Sues Her Father For Large Sum.

The weighty and perhaps delicate question of a father's right to turn his daughter, seventeen years old, across his knee and spank her until she could not sit down painlessly is being adjudicated by Justice Kelly, in supreme court, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Lena Israel, now twenty-one years old and living with her husband, in Kingston, N. Y., has begun an action against her father, Isaac Goldman, who lives at No. 329 Knickerbocker avenue Brooklyn, for $5,000, her affidavit stating that she suffered that much physical pain and mental humiliation because of the spanking.

The spanking occurred in the Goldman home in April, four years ago, when the girl was living with her parents, and before she met the man who is now her husband. Like all romances that become best sellers the reader is left to imagine much. The papers do not state why Mr. Goldman found it necessary to lay his mature and rather large daughter across his knee, nor how he accomplished this. But every one with experience readily knows that the subject of spanking is always laid face downward across the paternal knee and that the old Tom Sawyer story of concealing a pillow for protection has been proved to be a fable.

Nor do the papers in the case state whether a slipper or a butter paddle was employed. The bride does state, however, that following the spanking she "was lame and sore."

The case was to have come up last week but because Mrs. Israel's attorney failed to appear the action was dismissed, and yesterday her husband asked to have it placed back on the docket. In opposition this Mr. Goldman's attorney, Isador Buxbaum, contended that there was no law that prevents a parent from spanking a minor child whom he is supporting.

The girl was a stenographer and typist when she was spanked, but her wages were so low that her father supported her, the lawyer contended, and therefore he had the right to spank her. Not until after she was married did Mrs. Israel complain about the spanking, and Mr. Goldman said he believed that her husband, who is named as her guardian, is not acting in good faith. Justice Kelly reserved decision.—New York Herald.

NEW SANITARY CODE.

Rules For Quarantine of Contagious Diseases Are Adopted.

The communicable disease chapter of the first sanitary code to be enacted for state supervision of all contagious infectious diseases has been made public by Dr. Herman M. Biggs, state commissioner of health. The act which will take effect May 1, next, applies to New York state outside of the city of New York. The public health council appointed last year by Governor Sulzer worked seven months on the code, which reveals all local regulations inconsistent with it. Violation of the code is made a misdemeanor.

Chief among the provisions is that which declares it unlawful for any person "affected with any communicable disease, to handle food or food products in any manner whatsoever." This applies alike to workers on dairy and produce farms, or in restaurants, hotels and boarding houses. Power is given local health officers to confiscate and destroy produce that, in their opinion, has become contaminated. Owners of food so destroyed may be compensated for their losses.

The code substitutes isolation of cases of communicable disease for the quarantining of whole families. This one enactment, Dr. Biggs declared, should save the state thousands of dollars in the abolition of "obsolete and burdensome" quarantine regulations. Except in cases of small pox, the code provides, adult members of the family who do not come in contact with the patient may continue their usual vocations.

Danger of infection from the source of transmissible disease on a dairy farm, to a community's milk supply, is limited by compulsory reporting to the state health commissioners. The local health officer is required to report by telephone or telegraph "all facts concerning the case," together with names of places supplied with products from the dairy.

Minimum periods of quarantine for communicable diseases provided in the chapter include:

Chickenpox, until twelve days after the appearance; diphtheria, until two successive negative cultures have been obtained at intervals of twenty-four hours; measles, until ten days after the appearance of rash; mumps, until one week after swelling has disappeared; small pox, until fourteen days after development of the disease and the scars have healed completely; scarlet fever, until thirty days after the development of the disease; whooping cough, until one week after the last characteristic cough.

A feature of the code is the fact that it is written in words of not more than two syllables and will be understandable to the layman.

HUNTING THE WOLF

In Russia the Vicious Brute, if Full Grown, Is a Marvel.

FLEET, FIERCE AND STRONG.

He is Often More Than a Match For a Pack of Trained Hounds and Fairly Fights His Way to Freedom—An Exciting Chase With a Grand Duke.

Hunting wolves with dogs is one of the most engrossing and exciting of the winter sports in Russia, and in the pursuit of the full grown wild beast three types of dog are used—the ordinary foxhound pack, the borzoi, or Russian wolfhound, and the bearhound, a type which is becoming rarer all the time. The Russian imperial hunt, which is situated at Gatchina, about thirty miles from St. Petersburg, is the scene of most of these sporting events.

The method of hunting is to employ a "ring" or locate the animal by means of his tracks in a certain portion of the forest, the mounted huntsmen remaining quietly about, with groups of borzois in leash, three together. The next step is to send the foxhounds into the forest to force the wolf to break cover, and on his appearance the wolfhounds are slipped. If the quarry can survive two miles of hard pressure he will have outlasted the pace and staying powers of his pursuers, but if not the wolfhounds will have pulled him down. They can make no impression on his hide, however, but must wait until the first horseman comes up. The wolf is either killed then by knife, or his legs and jaws are bound up, and he is taken back home and exhibited a few days in captivity, when he is turned loose to furnish sport at a future time.

In the London Times N. Kravtchenko tells of a hunt in company with a grand duke, in which one of these full grown vicious brutes proved too much for the hounds:

We had reached our stations and became accustomed to patient, motionless waiting when far away was heard the voice of a hound on the scent. Soon a whole chorus joined in, and a little later the wood in front of us began to fill with noise, and then suddenly, not far from us, appeared a huge full grown wolf.

He seemed to be absolutely undisturbed and trotted off as if nothing particular was occurring, but in reality he was traveling at great speed and had almost covered half the distance when the grand duke unleashed upon him. Like lightning the wolf turned and retreated, but the dogs were quicker. "Let go!" shouted the grand duke, and my leash quickly followed. Every moment I thought the dogs would roll the wolf over and pin him. But the task was evidently no easy one. The wolf went on and on. Now and then he would turn his head when some more enterprising hound pressed him with his attentions. It seemed that there was nothing particularly menacing in the act, but so quickly did the mighty jaws snap that we could only tell as one hound after another fell away with ripped sides that it had been far more than a mere head shake. The incredible strength and agility of the beast and the apparent ease with which he dealt with six of the mightiest and best borzois of the grand ducal kennel compelled one's respect and admiration.

But now came a whirlwind directly in his path—two borzois, dark as night, galloping toward the pursued, intent at the risk of their lives to overturn him. I thought to see him torn to pieces in a few moments. But it is not in vain that according to the rules of wolf coursing a grown wolf has the honors of the whole kennel—all the borzois on the field must be unleashed—for besides his strength the grown wolf is extraordinarily agile and intelligent. All these qualities he displayed to the full before me. For the first time I saw a grown wolf at bay, and I was no longer disposed to feel any surprise that so many dogs should be unleashed against one beast. Without changing his course or his gait, suddenly, under the very noses of the borzois that were rushing upon him, he turned to the right and headed straight toward us, some dogs, trying to turn quickly, fell, but jumped up again and gave chase. But the wolf, it seemed, continued on his course at the same quiet gait, as if he felt no need to expend his strength upon his foes.

Not far from me the dogs almost overtook him. I thought that one had reached him, but he turned his head, and those two hours of his again did not pass in vain. Sailings of his head and the earnestness of the forest, were all in vain. The dogs made a last desperate effort and almost surrounded him on the very edge of the forest. We saw how they all came to a halt, and then we heard the howl of one dog after another as the wolf snapped at their heads and his gray body disappeared in the thicket. Then the borzois began to call their dogs together and to gather up the wounded.

So we cursed the grown wolf. In twenty-five years the Pershino hunt has taken only fifty six of them, whereas the number of cubs and yearling wolves that have been taken by the grand duke's borzois is 625.

Most Unfortunate.
Belle—My disposition is so forgiving; I make up so easily. Nell—it is a pity you can't apply your disposition to your face.—Baltimore American.

Do not hunt for temptation just for the sake of wrestling with it.

Epitaph of Truth.
Fogg says that the oddest epitaph he ever saw was that over the grave of a man who was notoriously lazy. It ran: "Asleep (as usual)."

FLEET, FIERCE AND STRONG.

He is Often More Than a Match For a Pack of Trained Hounds and Fairly Fights His Way to Freedom—An Exciting Chase With a Grand Duke.

Hunting wolves with dogs is one of the most engrossing and exciting of the winter sports in Russia, and in the pursuit of the full grown wild beast three types of dog are used—the ordinary foxhound pack, the borzoi, or Russian wolfhound, and the bear hound, a type which is becoming rarer all the time. The Russian imperial hunt, which is situated at Gatchina, about thirty miles from St. Petersburg, is the scene of most of these sporting events.

The method of hunting is to employ a "ring" or locate the animal by means of his tracks in a certain portion of the forest, the mounted huntsmen remaining quietly about, with groups of borzois in leash, three together. The next step is to send the foxhounds into the forest to force the wolf to break cover, and on his appearance the wolfhounds are slipped. If the quarry can survive two miles of hard pressure he will have outlasted the pace and staying powers of his pursuers, but if not the wolfhounds will have pulled him down. They can make no impression on his hide, however, but must wait until the first horseman comes up. The wolf is either killed then by knife, or his legs and jaws are bound up, and he is taken back home and exhibited a few days in captivity, when he is turned loose to furnish sport at a future time.

In the London Times N. Kravtchenko tells of a hunt in company with a grand duke, in which one of these full grown vicious brutes proved too much for the hounds.

We had reached our stations and became accustomed to patient, motionless waiting when far away was heard the voice of a hound on the scent. Soon a whole chorus joined in, and a little later the wood in front of us began to fill with noise, and then suddenly, not far from us, appeared a huge full grown wolf.

He seemed to be absolutely undisturbed and trotted off as if nothing particular was occurring, but in reality he was traveling at great speed and had almost covered half the distance when the grand duke unleashed upon him. Like lightning the wolf turned and retreated, but the dogs were quicker. "Let go!" shouted the grand duke, and my leash quickly followed. Every moment I thought the dogs would roll the wolf over and pin him. But the task was evidently no easy one. The wolf went on and on. Now and then he would turn his head when some more enterprising hound pressed him with his attentions. It seemed that there was nothing particularly menacing in the act, but so quickly did the mighty jaws snap that we could only tell as one hound after another fell away with ripped sides that it had been far more than a mere head shake. The incredible strength and agility of the beast and the apparent ease with which he dealt with six of the mightiest and best borzois of the grand ducal kennel compelled one's respect and admiration.

But now came a whirlwind directly in his path—two borzois, dark as night, galloping toward the pursued, intent at the risk of their lives to overturn him. I thought to see him torn to pieces in a few moments. But it is not in vain that according to the rules of wolf coursing a grown wolf has the honors of the whole kennel—all the borzois on the field must be unleashed—for besides his strength the grown wolf is extraordinarily agile and intelligent. All these qualities he displayed to the full before me. For the first time I saw a grown wolf at bay, and I was no longer disposed to feel any surprise that so many dogs should be unleashed against one beast. Without changing his course or his gait, suddenly, under the very noses of the borzois that were rushing upon him, he turned to the right and headed straight toward us, some dogs, trying to turn quickly, fell, but jumped up again and gave chase. But the wolf, it seemed, continued on his course at the same quiet gait, as if he felt no need to expend his strength on such foes.

Not far from me the dogs almost overtook him. I thought that one had reached him, but he turned his head, and there the fangs of his again did their work. Snarlings of him and the rest of the forest, were all that I heard. The dogs made a last desperate dash and almost surrounded him on the very edge of the wood. We saw how they all came to a halt, and then we heard the howl of the dogs as the wolf snapped at them all and his gray body disappeared in the thicket. Then the borzois began to call their dogs together and to gather up the wounded.

So we cursed the grown wolf. In twenty-five years the Pershino hunt has taken only fifty six of them, whereas the number of cubs and yearling wolves that have been taken by the grand duke's borzois is 625.

Most Unfortunate.

Epitaph of Truth.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 10, 1914.

Four years ago the city of Geneva, Switzerland, voted to put women on a par with men in voting and holding local offices. The experiment failed to produce desirable results, the good women neglecting to vote, while the bad ones did vote. So, on Wednesday, it was voted to restore the old order of things, the majority being very emphatic. More incidents of this kind will be heard of as time goes on. The feminist movement has progressed about as far as it will go, and the inevitable reaction is imminent.

The other day the treasurer of a defunct society in this city asked the writer's opinion of the proper disposition of the funds remaining in his hands. It is impracticable to resurrect the organization even for the five minutes necessary to decide the matter. Being an honest man, he cannot spend the money on himself, nor has he any right to give it to any charity, no matter how worthy. This is by no means an unusual case. We know of three others in this city, and there are doubtless several times as many which never fell under our observation. The custody of such money is a great nuisance. If one puts it into a bank and lets it lie there, who will get it in the end? When the treasurer dies, who will his successor be? The moralist who furnishes a satisfactory solution to this problem will endeavor himself to quite a number of people.

According to Anna Pavlova, who ought to be qualified to express an opinion, the roughhouse and bug-house dances are doomed to early extinction and will have practically disappeared a year hence. The coming dance, says madame, will be "a sublimated Virginia reel." We suspect that these changes in fashions are being engineered by the professional dancing teachers, whose financial existence depends upon the introduction of a never-ending succession of new steps. The law of self-preservation has forced them to imitate the tactics of the dressmakers and milliners. It is rather hard on the dancing public, however, to be compelled to pay as much for instruction as would keep up a first-class automobile. Hard times and bad business appear to affect only the purveyors of necessities. Trade is always good with those who furnish things which amount to nothing.

President Wilson denies that the treaty negotiated by Secretary Bryan with Colombia contains an apology for aid and comfort given the Panama secessionists. With the mastery of pure and undefiled English for which he is famous, he declares that such talk is "pure guff." There may be permissible differences of opinion as to what an apology is. Some persons consider the payment of $25,000,000, if not precisely an apology, at least a very creditable imitation of one. What are the millions to be paid for, anyway? The same principles which regulate the conduct of gentlemen ought to control the relations of nations. If a man, whether by accident or design, injures the property of another, he is quick to pay the damage and express his regret. If he is innocent he very properly regards the complainant as a blackmailer. Roosevelt obtained the canal zone through either upright or sneaking means. Reparation should be made handsomely or not at all.

The Constitutional Convention, which the voters have ordered to be held, will consist of three delegates from each Senatorial district in the State, and fifteen delegates at large, making 168 in all. They will receive the same pay as members of the Legislature, and they will not have to do nearly as much work for the money. There is bound to be a great rush for these places, since there are few men in the State who are not absolutely confident of their ability to make constitutions of a superior quality, and who need $1,500 and expenses very badly. There is also a host of aspirants afflicted with fads who wish to impose their crazy notions upon the public. Candidates will be chosen on primary day next September, under the new law which abolished party conventions. In many cases it will require the expenditure of a considerable part of the prospective $1,500 in carrying the primary. Not that there would be any corruption, but it is expensive to go around among the voters of a large Senatorial district and solicit their support. Even newspaper advertising, which is the cheapest way of reaching the people, costs something. This political millennium which Governor Glynn's primary bill ushered in, is not all it was cracked up to be.

"BACK TO THE HOME."

(By Our Woman Editor.)

"The woman movement I want to see is away from the offices and factories back to the home."

The few words quoted above were spoken by a woman in an address delivered in an exclusive home where not one of the women from the family, probably not one among all the listeners, ever was driven from the home by a necessitous call. It does not matter the name of the speaker, because the words are so familiar that they may be classed as typical of words frequently uttered in homes of that luxurious stamp, and in many another, for the matter of that.

And always they inspire a heart-felt wish that the earnest souls who really feel that way may be given a chance to demonstrate their sincerity.

There are something like 7,000,000 women and girls delightfully dreaming their lives away in offices, factories and other alluring places. When the call comes to quit the labors that please them so well and to march to the homes they despise, will the folk who are earnestly urging their return stand by with beckoning hands?

Will they hospitably invite the prodigals in and assure them of a welcome by the hearthstone forever and ever? Will they tell them that their homes are yearning to be flooded by women dependents, that their husbands, their fathers, their brothers are only waiting for a chance to share their earnings with any homeless kinswoman, however remote?

And will they see that the women wayfarers are abundantly supplied with the wherewithals of life, with raiment and a few little luxuries aside, as well as with food and a comfortable roof over their heads?

If not, let them hold their peace. Let them reflect for a while upon the practical question: Who will bear the financial burdens of the homes into which the wanderers will flock? For it costs a pretty penny or so to feed, clothe and house even a few extra women.

Let them bear thoughtfully in mind the fact that in this big tide of workers are many women who have no homes except as they make them. And whether these homes are quite splendid or just one poor little room on an uppermost floor, nothing but their earnings stand back of them. And, pray, what, where, shall the substitutes be?

Let them recall the significant truth that it takes more than fine words, more than wishes as fine, to make homes and to supply the money to run them. If fine words and wishes were all—but it is pitiful to think of the weary eyes that would brighten, the tired, overwrought bodies that would relax if homes were to be had for the words and the wishes—yes, and for the working at household tasks.

Does anyone honestly think that factories, with their monotony, their tension, their exactions, their everything that drives out the natural self, really are inviting to women? Or offices? Sometimes women drift to factories, to offices and to other places when they might have drifted to homes, but it is not for the world to ask why; nor to assume that the homes were passed because of the greater attractions out on the throbbing ways where financial independence may be rather costly.

And it is not for the world to forget that often the very women who are found in factories, in offices and the like have no small share in the making and the sustaining of homes.

When the world is ready for a woman movement that will send women flocking out from the places where remunerative work is carried along, when objecting folk are prepared to tell the workers how and where they shall live under the new regime, then some of us shall listen quite patiently to the swelling chorus—"Back to the home."

Meanwhile, it has a hollow and a very insincere sort of ring.

Trackless Trolley Hearing.

A public hearing on the application of the Kingston-Elleville Trackless Trolley Company, Inc., for permission to run auto busses between Kingston and Elleville will be held before Commissioner Hodson of the public service commission in the assembly parlors at the capitol in Albany on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. As stated recently in The Freeman the company expects, if permission is granted by the public service commission, to put on the route two or more up-to-date auto busses which will carry passengers and baggage at frequent intervals. Stops will also be made at Hurley, Marletown, Stone Ridge, Accord, Wawarsing and Napanoch. It is expected that if permission is granted the line will be in operation by the first of May.

The Harsh Judge.

Judge Stephen C. Greene, at a dinner in Charleston, was defending a harsh sentence.

"I am a conservative," said Judge Greene, "and I believe that it is better for law and order that sentences should err on the side of harshness rather than on the side of lenity. 'Look at nature, the great Judge of us all. Was there ever a harsher, severer Judge than nature, who sentences each and every one of us to hard labor for life?'—New York Times.

Well Spent.

Representative James Slayden hath a keen ear for the philosophic; eke, an eye most humorous. When they converge upon an incident of smallboy life the result is a story worthy of Tom Sawyer's renowned creator. "The boys of a Sunday school in my district had organized a baseball team of exceeding skill," said Representative Slayden. "After defeat at all local smallboy nines, they sought the scalp of a youthful team whose conquering bats had laid low all rivals of their class in a neighboring town."

"Now, the minister, desirous of encouraging the youthful champions, donated $10 for their benefit. 'Boys,' he said, 'invest this in bats or gloves, or whatever you think will most aid you in winning that game.'"

"On the appointed day, the minister was surprised to see the team appear with the same old paraphernalia. Success attend their every effort, however, and they won by a handsome margin. After the game the minister, curious to know how his ten dollar donation had been invested, called the captain."

"I'm delighted at your triumph," he said, "but what did you do with the money I gave you for a new outfit?" "Why, sir, you told us to invest it in whatever we thought would most aid us in winning the game," replied the young leader, "so this morning we gave it to the umpire."—Washington Star.

Water on the Brain.

Appropos of a railroad's recent omission of the usual dividend, Thomas W. Lawson said at a luncheon in Boston:

"Watered stock is at the base of all our financial troubles. Our ideal of a financier in the past seemed to be a good stock waterer."

Mr. Lawson brought his fist down on the table vehemently. "I wish," he said, "that retributive justice would overtake some of these fellows. I wish they'd be attacked with hydrocephalus."—Boston Post.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday evening in the chapel for the election of three trustees. O'Connor, showed receipts for the year ending April 1, of $5,870.72 with disbursements of $5,853.12 leaving a balance on hand of $17.60 with all bills paid. During the evening brief addresses were made by the pastor, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, James G. Van Keuren, A. S. Hammond, P. R. Powley, Miss Mary S. LeFevre, Harry G. Smith, Miss Kingman, Mrs. C. M. ## A LOCAL INDUSTRY

The Kingston telephone exchange system is a local industry. The plant is firmly rooted here. It represents many thousands of dollars invested in underground conduits, poles, wire, cables and switchboards,—dollars that would shrink to small fractions if this dedicated and costly plant were not maintained at a high degree of efficiency.

As Kingston prospers the telephone central office prospers. More business means more workers—workers who are residents of Kingston.

The success of the great Bell System depends upon the success of its individual central offices.

The employees have every incentive of selfish or civic interest, to work for efficient telephone service for Kingston not only that they may receive official recognition and reward, but also that their friends and neighbors may be well served.

The employees' bread and butter depend upon the success of the business here in Kingston and it is only natural that it should be their desire to promote healthy co-operation between the subscribers and Company.

Trackless Trolley Hearing.
A public hearing on the application of the Kingston-Elenville Trackless Trolley Company, Inc., for permission to run auto busses between Kingston and Elenville will be held before Commissioner Hodson of the public service commission in the assembly parlors at the capitol in Albany on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. As stated recently in The Freeman the company expects, if permission is granted by the public service commission, to put on the route two or more up-to-date auto busses which will carry passengers and baggage at frequent intervals. Stops will also be made at Hurley, Marlborough, Stone Ridge, Accord, Wawarsing and Nanapanoch. It is expected that if permission is granted the line will be in operation by the first of May.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

He—"Do you think that money is necessary to happiness?" She—"Not if one has unlimited credit."—Boston Transcript.

"He looks like a fool!" "But, papa, he has asked me to marry him." "He has? Well, don't ever tell me I can't size up people."—Houston Post.

"My dear Reginald, now that you've left college, you must really begin looking for some sort of employment." "But don't you think, mother, it would be more dignified to wait till the offers begin coming in?"—Life.

"You may be compelled to meet criticism." "I know it," replied Senator Sorghum. "And I am a little afraid that I am going to have to meet it in a way that will convey the impression of a head-on collision."—Washington Star.

Dear Old Lady (to tramp)—"My good man, what on earth are you doing on my lawn?" Crafty Old Fraud—"Bless yer, kind lady! I'm that 'ungry I got to eat grass." Dear Old Lady—"If you go round to the back you'll find the grass grows much longer and thicker there."—Punch.

"How pale and worried your mother looks. Is she sick?" "No, ma'am, but pa's got the grip." "And is she afraid that he won't get well?" "Oh, no, but whenever pa's sick he worries her so that she always looks as though she had what was ailing him."—Detroit Free Press.

The Harsh Judge.

Judge Stephen C. Greene, at a dinner in Charleston, was defending a harsh sentence.

"I am a conservative," said Judge Greene, "and I believe that it is better for law and order that sentences should err on the side of harshness rather than on the side of leniency." "Look at nature, the great judge of us all. Was there ever a harsher, severer judge than nature, who sentences each and every one of us to hard labor for life?"—New York Times.

Well Spent.

Representative James Slayden hath a keen ear for the philosophic; eke, an eye most humorous. When they converge upon an incident of smallboy life the result is a story worthy of Tom Sawyer's renowned creator. "The boys of a Sunday school in my district had organized a baseball team of exceeding skill," said Representative Slayden. "After defeating all local smallboy nines, they sought the scalp of a youthful team whose conquering bats had laid low all rivals of their class in a neighboring town."

"Now, the minister, desirous of encouraging the youthful champions, donated $10 for their benefit."

"Boys," he said, "invest this in bats, or gloves, or whatever you think will most aid you in winning that game."

"On the appointed day, the minister was surprised to see the team appear with the same old paraphernalia. Success attended their every effort however, and they won by a handsome margin. After the game the minister, curious to know how his ten dollar donation had been invested, called the captain."

"I'm delighted at your triumph," he said, "but what did you do with the money I gave you for a new outfit?"

"Why, sir, you told us to invest it in whatever we thought would most aid us in winning the game," replied the young leader, "so this morning we gave it to the umpire."—Washington Star.

Water on the Brain.

Appropos of a railroad's recent omission of the usual dividend, Thomas W. Lawson said at a luncheon in Boston:

"Watered stock is at the base of all our financial troubles. Our ideal of a financier in the past seemed to be a good stock waterer."

Mr. Lawson brought his fist down on the table vehemently.

"I wish," he said, "that retributive justice would overtake some of these fellows. I wish they'd be attacked with hydrocephalus."—Boston Post.

Annual Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was held on Thursday evening in the chapel for the election of three trustees. Those elected were Joseph Hutton Jr., Charles Terwilliger and Grove Webster Jr. The annual report of the treasurer, Charles R. O'Connor, showed receipts for the year ending April 1, of $5,870.72 with disbursements of $5,853.12 leaving a balance on hand of $17.60 with all bills paid. During the evening brief addresses were made by the pastor, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, James G. Van Kuren, A. S. Hammond, F. R. Powley, Miss Mary S. LeFevre, Harry G. Smith, Miss Kingman, Mrs. C. M. ## A LOCAL INDUSTRY

The Kingston telephone exchange system is a local industry. The plant is firmly rooted here. It represents many thousands of dollars invested in underground conduits, poles, wire, cables and switchboards,—dollars that would shrink to small fractions if this delicate and costly plant were not maintained at a high degree of efficiency.

As Kingston prospers the telephone central office prospers. More business means more workers—workers who are residents of Kingston.

The success of the great Bell System depends upon the success of its individual central offices.

The employees have every incentive of selfish or civic interest, to work for efficient telephone service for Kingston not only that they may receive official recognition and reward, but also that their friends and neighbors may be well served.

The employees' bread and butter depend upon the success of the business here in Kingston and it is only natural that it should be their desire to promote healthy co-operation between the subscribers and Company.

MAYO SERVES NOTICE ON FEDERALIS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 10.—"The Waters-Pierce oil plant and other foreign property must be protected or you will be held personally responsible for any damage thereto."

This is the message transmitted to General Scaragosa, commander of the Federal garrison at Tampico by Rear Admiral May, commanding the American squadron off Tampico, according to wireless advices to the navy department today. No reply has been received to Mayo's communication.

The American commander's report stated that the Federal gunboat Vera Cruz had maintained a steady fire on the buildings occupied by the rebels near the Waters-Pierce plant and that several oil tanks had been fired.

The fighting in the suburbs of Tampico was "more or less desultory," yesterday, Rear Admiral Mayo reported. He added that two women had been hanged by the rebels for attempting to release prisoners from the jail and that the Federalists had hanged a Constitutionalist who was captured with arms in his possession.

A number of women and children have been taken on board the cruiser Des Moines and all American women and children have been brought up from points on the river below the city except at La Parra. Those who were there have gone aboard the German oil steamer Osago. Admiral Mayo's report emphasized the fact that the refugees do not wish to be moved from Tampico but only desire shelter during the fighting.

The Reigning Fad in Paris---The Hit of New York

In order to be perfectly dressed nowadays one must have everything to accord both in color and design. This has necessitated many radical changes in accessories and the very latest of these is the wig tinted to match the gown.

The very first of these to be shown in Kingston in public will be worn by Miss Juanita Mack of the Chicago Stock Company in their performance of "A Woman's Way," to be presented Monday evening.

The gown calling for this eccentric rose colored wig is a "La Minaret" by Mme. Paquin of Paris. It is a creation of pink crepe de chine and shadow lace trimmed in dyed fur and is one of the many beautiful gowns worn by the ladies of the company in this production.

MISS FANNY MARINOFF AND MISS JULIETTE LIPPE WEARING COLORED WIGS

Soon after the news of its appearance in Paris and London had been flashed by cable under the sea, the colored wig was accepted by New York. Men and women of society and the stage have taken advantage of the bizarre opportunities which it offers, and wig makers and designers of coiffures are busy preparing to meet the demand for brilliant head coverings which promise to be a feature of entertainments during the remainder of the season. The above photograph shows Miss Fanny Marinoff and Miss Juliette Lippe, of New York wearing colored wigs while out shopping.

MAYO SERVES NOTICE ON FEDERAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 10.—"The Waters-Pierce oil plant and other foreign property must be protected or you will be held personally responsible for any damage thereto."

This is the message transmitted to General Sca agosa, commander of the Federal garrison at Tampico by Rear Admiral May, commanding the American squadron off Tampico, according to wireless advices to the navy department today. No reply has been received to Mayo's communication.

The American commander's report stated that the Federal gunboat Vera Cruz had maintained a steady fire on the buildings occupied by the rebels near the Waters-Pierce plant and that several oil tanks had been fired.

The fighting in the suburbs of Tampico was "more or less desultory," yesterday, Rear Admiral Mayo reported. He added that two women had been hanged by the rebels for attempting to release prisoners from the jail and that the Federal had hanged a Constitutionalist who was captured with arms in his possession.

A number of women and children have been taken on board the cruiser Des Moines and all American women and children have been brought up from points on the river below the city except at La Parra. Those who were there have gone aboard the German oil steamer Osago. Admiral Mayo's report emphasized the fact that the refugees do not wish to be moved from Tampico but only desire shelter during the fighting.

The Reigning Fad in Paris---The Hit of New York

In order to be perfectly dressed nowadays one must have everything to accord both in color and design. This has necessitated many radical changes in accessories and the very latest of these is the wig tinted to match the gown.

The very first of these to be shown in Kingston in public will be worn by Miss Juanita Mack of the Chicago Stock Company in their performance of "A Woman's Way," to be presented Monday evening.

The gown calling for this eccentric rose colored wig is a "La Mimare" by Mme. Paquin of Paris. It is a creation of pink crepe de chine and shadow lace trimmed in dyed fur and is one of the many beautiful gowns worn by the ladies of the company in this production.

MISS FANNY MARINOFF AND MISS JULIETTE LIPPE WEARING COLORED WIGS

Soon after the news of its appearance in Paris and London had been flashed by cable under the sea, the colored wig was accepted by New York. Men and women of society and the stage have taken advantage of the bizarre opportunities which it offers, and wig makers and designers of coiffures are busy preparing to meet the demand for brilliant head coverings which promise to be a feature of entertainments during the remainder of the season. The above photograph shows Miss Fanny Marinoff and Miss Juliette Lippe, of New York wearing colored wigs while out shopping.

ONE OF THESE FAMOUS WIGS WILL BE WORN IN "A WOMAN'S WAY," THE GAY FARCE PRESENTED BY THE CHICAGO STOCK COMPANY AT THE OPERA HOUSE MONDAY EVENING.—Advertisement.

PRINGLE ON HOME RULE.

Native of Ulster Explains Cause of Threatened Rebellion.

Speaking from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church, Newburgh, on Sunday night, the Rev. William Pringle, head of the Citizens League, in a prelude to his sermon touched on the home rule controversy now raging in the province of Ulster, Ireland. Mr. Pringle was born in that province and claims a large acquaintance among the men who are now in the public eye in that section. He said:

"Living in a country happily, to a large extent, free from religious intolerance and faction strife, the average American finds it difficult to understand the cause that lies back of the present alarming situation confronting the authorities in the province of Ulster, Ireland. The seriousness of this situation has been in my judgment, somewhat exaggerated, yet the fact still remains that more than 100,000 Ulster men, numbers of whom are known to me personally, have been drilled in military tactics to a high degree of efficiency are armed with modern rifles and await the call to join companies, regiments and brigades, in order to defend, with their lives if necessary, what they consider the 'Faith Once Delivered to the Saints.'"

"That they are willing to do this no one who knows the spirit that animates these men can deny. They are descendants of the Scottish covenanters, whose blood shed the heather crimson in the 'killing times' when they struggled in the days of King Charles to maintain in Scotland what they called the 'Crown Rights' of Christ. Some of their ancestors fought and starved behind the embattled walls of Londonderry when King James flung his armies around the beleaguered city. When the battle of the Boyne decided the fate of a kingdom, the forefathers fought under the standard of the Prince of Orange. Let it be remembered that the stern men now on the verge of rebellion cherish in their hearts the memories of the centuries when inhuman and fieldish deeds were done in the name of religion."

"Their main objection to the enactment of the home rule bill into law is a religious objection and not an economic one. They believe that their houses, lands and loved ones, when free from religious domination. For many months past they have listened to the political charlatan and socialist and have come to believe that home rule would mean the revival of cruelty and religious intolerance that characterized other centuries, and a feeling of distrust of the Home Rule policy disseminated, in many instances, by professional agitators for political purposes, has spread itself throughout the bounds of the province of Ulster."

"The armed men who are ready to blindly follow the leadership of Sir Edward Carson have forgotten some things that they should have remembered. While deifying the intolerance of their countrymen, they themselves have become intolerant. They have forgotten that their forefathers themselves were often given to revenge. They have forgotten that they live in the twentieth century and not in the sixteenth."

"Slowly but surely Ireland is coming to her own. Her night is far spent and her day is at hand. For centuries England paid no heed to her bitter cry. Famine has been permitted to stalk through her land. Tens of thousands of her children have perished from hunger, tens of thousands were shipped to colonies, most of them to die from famine fever."

"Her peasantry have been driven from their native land to make place for the enlarged estate preserve of the landlord. Her altars have been desecrated, her bones crushed, her history written in tears and blood. The titanic struggle to realize her dream of liberty is nearing its close."

"I have lived among and mixed with the population of Ireland, and knowing the people as I do I have no fear that the liberties of any will be interfered with in the day when Ireland shall have complete self-government. The spirit of distrust will die, and I for one will look forward to the coming of the day in which every man can worship God according to the dictates of his conscience and have a kindly feeling and respect for all with whom he differs in religious creed."

Big Easter Food Sale at Planthaber's Saturday

Pure foods at substantial price reductions when the whole country is "kicking" against the high cost of living are among the attractions which this market offers to its patrons for Saturday. High cost of living may be one evidence of national prosperity, yet it hurts none the less to be compelled to pay perhaps a fourth more for the usual table supplies. Knowing the market conditions thoroughly and being convinced that there would be no downward tendency in prices soon, we have been quietly preparing for this, our Easter sale, for some time past. The many items of food articles at enduring savings that appear below should bring big crowds here Saturday, rain or shine. Surely the price bulletin is remarkable from an economy standpoint.

Recently, a large store of very honored name became insolvent and passed into the hands of a new owner—an energetic young man.

Little was left to the business but the good name. There were strong stores all around it.

The first thing this merchant did was to emphasize in his advertising that he kept well known, popular, advertised articles—mentioning those advertised in the local newspapers by the manufacturers.

He did not advertise them at a cut price. He merely let it be known that he carried them and would give good service.

That was a few months ago. Already the business has started to revive to an extent that competitors are sitting up and taking notice.

This man makes it a rule to mention every day in his advertising the name of some well known, branded article that he carries—a name that stands for character in the mind of the public.

WHERE THEY ARE GOING

Where are you going my pretty maid?
"I am going to Canfield's store," she said.
May I go with you, my pretty maid?
Sure, everyone's going there," she said.

And why are they going, my pretty maid?
"Because it is the very best place to trade." And what do they sell, my pretty maid?
And these are some of the things, she said.

"Plumbing that's strictly up-to-date. And stoves, the finest in the state. Roofing that keeps out rain and storm. And heaters to keep the whole house warm."

"New Wax Engines, that go just right. And Storage Battery for Electric Light. Pneumatic Tires for water supply. So simple that every one should buy."

"Mowers and Reapers; Harrows and Plows. Barrel Churns, and things for the cows. Washing Machines, the women to please. They run by power with greatest of ease."

"Incubators and Brooders, as well. Such Poultry supplies, by the car they sell. Sprayers and all the spraying supplies. Would surely make you open your eyes."

"Fabricators of latest style. Injectors that make the engineers smile. Valves and Belting. Pipes of all kind. A few of the things you're sure to find."

A metal plate has always been considered the last word in artificial teeth. Platinum plates with porcelain are ideal but costs $175. Gold is next and costs $50. Aluminum costs only $25.

Aluminum plates have many advantages. They are always very light in weight. The metal is easily worked and is well adapted to casting which makes the best fitting plate in the world.

There are many mouths difficult to fit and many cases where rubber plates are poisonous and cause sore gums. For such the aluminum plates solve the question at a medium price.

Other plates: Platinum with porcelain continuous gums $175, gold plate $50 and rubber plates for $10 and $15.

PRINGLE ON HOME RULE.*Native of Ulster Explains Cause of Threatened Rebellion.

Speaking from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church, Newburgh, on Sunday night, the Rev. William Pringle, head of the Citizens League, in a prelude to his sermon touched on the home rule controversy now raging in the province of Ulster, Ireland. Mr. Pringle was born in that province and claims a large acquaintance among the men who are now in the public eye in that section. He said:

"Living in a country happily, to a large extent, free from religious intolerance and faction strife, the average American finds it difficult to understand the cause that lies back of the present alarming situation confronting the authorities in the province of Ulster, Ireland. The seriousness of this situation has been in my judgment, somewhat exaggerated, yet the fact still remains that more than 100,000 Ulster men, numbers of whom are known to me personally, have been drilled in military tactics to a high degree of efficiency, are armed with modern rifles and await the call to join companies, regiments and brigades, in order to defend, with their lives if necessary, what they consider the 'Faith Once Delivered to the Saints.'"

"That they are willing to do this no one who knows the spirit that animates these men can deny. They are descendants of the Scottish covenanters, whose blood dyed the heather common in the 'killing times' when they struggled in the days of King Charles to maintain in Scotland what they called the 'Crown Rights' of Christ. Some of their ancestors fought and starved behind the embattled walls of Londonderry when King James fled his armies around the beleaguered city. When the battle of the Boyne decided the fate of a kingdom, their forefathers fought under the standard of the Prince of Orange. Let it be remembered that the stern men now on the verge of rebellion cherish in their hearts the memories of the centuries when inhuman and fieldish deeds were done in the name of religion."

"Their main objection to the enactment of the home rule bill into law is a religious objection and not an economic one. They believe that their houses, lands and loved ones, and even their lives, are only safe when free from religious domination. For many months past they have listened to the political charlatan and socialist and have come to believe that home rule would mean the revival of enmity and religious intolerance, and a feeling of distrust of the Home Rule policy disseminated, in many instances by professional agitators for political purposes, has spread itself throughout the bounds of the province of Ulster."

"The armed men who are ready to actually follow the leadership of Sir Edward Carson have forgotten some things that they should have remembered. While deprecating the intolerance of their countrymen, they themselves have become intolerant. They have forgotten that their forefathers themselves were often given to revenge. They have forgotten that they live in the twentieth century and not in the sixteenth."

"Slowly but surely Ireland is coming to her own. Her night is far spent and her day is at hand. For centuries England paid no heed to her bitter cry. Famine has been permitted to stalk through her land. Tens of thousands of her children have perished from hunger, tens of thousands were shipped to colonies, most of them to die from famine fever."

"Her peasantry have been driven from their native land to make place for the enlarged game preserve of the landlord. Her altars have been desecrated, her homes crushed, her history written in tears and blood. The titanic struggle to realize her dream of liberty is nearing its close."

"I have lived among and mixed with the population of Ireland, and knowing the people as I do I have no fear that the liberties of any will be interfered with in the day when Ireland shall have complete self-government. The spirit of distrust will die, and I for one will look forward to the coming of the day in which every man can worship God according to the dictates of his conscience and have a kindly feeling and respect for all with whom he differs in religious creed."

Big Easter Food Sale at Planthaber's Saturday

Pure foods at substantial price reductions when the whole country is "kicking" against the high cost of living are among the attractions which this market offers to its patrons for Saturday. High cost of living may be one evidence of national prosperity, yet it hurts none the less to be compelled to pay perhaps a fourth more for the usual table supplies. Knowing the market conditions thoroughly and being convinced that there would be no downward tendency in prices soon, we have been quietly preparing for this, our Easter sale, for some time past. The many items of food articles at reducing savings that appear below should bring big crowds here Saturday, rain or shine. Surely the price bulletin is remarkable from an economy standpoint.

WHERE THEY ARE GOING

Where are you going my pretty maid?
"I am going to Canfield's store," she said.
May I go with you, my pretty maid?
Sure, everyone's going there," she said.

And why are they going, my pretty maid?
"Because it is the very best place to trade,"
And what do they sell, my pretty maid?
And these are some of the things, she said.

"Plumbing that's strictly up-to-date.
And stoves, the finest in the state.
Roofing that keeps out rain and storm.
And heaters to keep the whole house warm."

"New Way Engines, that go just right.
And Storage Battery for Electric Light.
Pneumatic Tanks for water supply.
So simple that every one should buy."

"Mowers and Reapers; Harrows and Plows,
Barrel Churns, and things for the cows.
Washing Machines, the women to please,
They run by power with greatest of ease."

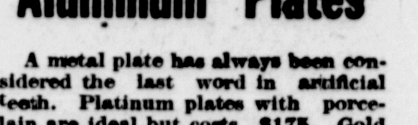

"Incubators and Brooders, as well,
Such Poultry supplies, by the car they sell.
Sprayers and all the spraying supplies,
Would surely make you open your eyes."

"Lubricators of latest style,
Injectors that make the engineers smile.
Valves and Belting, Pipes of all kind,
Are a few of the things you're sure to find."

Aluminum Plates

A metal plate has always been considered the last word in artificial teeth. Platinum plates with porcelain are ideal but cost $175. Gold is next and costs $50. Aluminum costs only $25.

Aluminum plates have many advantages. They are always very light in weight. The metal is easily worked and is well adapted to casting which makes the best fitting plate in the world.

There are many mouths difficult to fit and many cases where rubber plates are poisonous and cause sore gums. For such the aluminum plates solve the question at a medium price.

Other plates: Platinum with porcelain continuous gums $175, gold plate $50 and rubber plates for $10 and $15.

Open evenings till 9. Sundays 9 to 1.

Avoid Worry.
An eminent physician has stated, as a result of his experience, his opinion that worry kills more people than any single known disease, and is accountable for much of the degeneracy of the present day. It ages more certainly than the hardest work, covering the face with the fretwork of unrest. But this will yield to force of will, a determination to fight against it constantly and strenuously.

Avoid Worry.
An eminent physician has stated, as a result of his experience, his opinion that worry kills more people than any single known disease, and is accountable for much of the degeneracy of the present day. It ages more certainly than the hardest work, covering the face with the fretwork of unrest. But this will yield to force of will, a determination to fight against it constantly and strenuously.

Modern Sigh.

MOSS REFUSES TO INTERFERE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 10.—Ex-Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, who prosecuted the gunmen slayers of Herman Rosenthal, refused today to lend his aid to the campaign being waged to secure a reprieve for the convicted men. Possibility that he might help centered about a note written by him to ex-Governor Sulzer discrediting Morris Luban and Max Margolies who were witnesses against the gangsters, but he explained this note as follows today: "Some time last summer, word came to me that Governor Sulzer was considering the employment of these two men. I saw no advantage in this for the governor. I do not remember just exactly when I wrote the note, but it was evidently written for some person who wanted a line for Governor Sulzer and I did not want him to think that these men were 'one hundred percents.'"

The note which was brought to light at Albany by Rabbi L. B. M. Brown, was as follows: "Be very careful as to anything given by Luban or Margolies." Mr. Moss said that he had been besieged by relatives of the gunmen seeking his aid, but that he had been unable to give this.

"I feel sorry for the poor devils," he added. "They were victims of a condition but I can do nothing."

Inherited Character.

It has been explained that character and behavior of all organic matter, plants as well as animals and human beings, is determined by what are known as character units. Thus in taking a hypothetical case of the shrewd, cruel father and the shiftless, kind mother, we have four distinct character units, which through inheritance reappear variously grouped in the offspring.

MOSS REFUSES TO INTERFERE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 10.—Ex-Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, who prosecuted the gunmen slayers of Herman Rosenthal, refused today to lend his aid to the campaign being waged to secure a reprieve for the convicted men. Possibility that he might help centered about a note written by him to ex-Governor Sulzer discrediting Morris Luban and Max Margolies who were witnesses against the gangsters, but he explained this note as follows today: "Some time last summer, word came to me that Governor Sulzer was considering the employment of these two men. I saw no advantage in this for the governor. I do not remember just exactly when I wrote the note, but it was evidently written for some person who wanted a line for Governor Sulzer and I did not want him to think that these men were 'one hundred percents.'" The note which was brought to light at Albany by Rabbi L. B. M. Brown, was as follows: "Be very careful as to anything given by Luban or Margolies." Mr. Moss said that he had been besieged by relatives of the gunmen seeking his aid, but that he had been unable to give this. "I feel sorry for the poor devils," he added. "They were victims of a condition but I can do nothing."

Ashes of the Great.

The city republic of Florence gathered her famous dead at Santa Croce, save "the all Etruscan three," Dante, Petrarch and Boccaccio. England has made Westminster abbey the burial place of such men as Chaucer, Spenser, Newton, Darwin and Tennyson, besides a baker's dozen of kings. But in America the ashes of the great are scattered far and wide. Washington rests at Mount Vernon, Va.; Lincoln at Springfield, Ill. The tomb of Paul Jones is an inspiration to students in the naval academy at Annapolis. Poe sleeps at Baltimore; Mark Twain at Elmira, N. Y.; Alexander Hamilton in old Trinity churchyard, surrounded by towering skyscrapers which embody his philosophy of life and government. Is not America's way the best? England and Florence make things harder for the tourist, but is he the chief person to consider? Since our heroes come from all the land is it not best that their ashes return to the soil from which they spring, the youth in every neighborhood has some reminder of public service and noble work?—Chicago Journal.

The Torment of Cold.

I thank heaven that I know what it is to be cold, to be cold from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, to be cold from the cuticle in to the heart, and from the heart to the soul. I thank heaven that I, because, knowing this, I have a new revelation of the possibility of suffering, and I am able to find a paradise in a common wood fire.

Knowing this, I declare to you there is not a more pathetic sight in the world than a poor man who is thoroughly cold from week to week. It is the refinement of torture.

It does not gnaw like hunger, which presently becomes a sort of insanity and relieves itself. It is a dead, unbiest, icy torment. I used to see men in the army whose silent endurance of cold brought more tears to my eyes than all the hunger and all the wounds.

—Sidney Lanier.

A Candidate's Revenge.

French electors occasionally have some home truths thrown at them by candidates who fail to secure enough votes. At one general election M. Albert Normand, a chemist and druggist, who was a candidate for deputy from Montagne, received only six votes and issued an address thanking "the six electors who showed their confidence in me. They are the only solvent citizens in the constituency, and I beg to assure them of my esteem. As for the others, I hereby give them notice that in future all attempts to obtain credit at my establishment will be relentlessly refused. During the last nine years they have robbed me of about 3,000 francs in bad debts, which I have taken no steps to recover. Yet when an opportunity is afforded of showing their appreciation of my leniency I meet with the basest ingratitude."

FIGHTING DISEASE AS FIREMEN FIGHT FIRE.

(This is the Proper Way to Bathe a Baby.)

New York has a new idea about fighting sickness and is doing what no other city has yet done—that is fighting disease the way firemen fight fire and getting it at the start. The health department has undertaken a great deal of "preventive work," especially with regard to tuberculosis, and already supplies a certain amount of nursing in the home. The investigating committee realizes that it takes sympathy knowledge and good understanding to combat disease, and its idea of a "health center" is to concentrate these qualities among the tenants. There will be instruction in how to care for the baby—a child hygiene clinic—a dental clinic, a tuberculosis clinic, and a milk station like those the health department now maintains to furnish wholesome food for the infant. If the health center does what is hoped for it, it will be a sort of public neighbor, where the whole community can turn for help in sickness. A remodelled house will be the "health center's" abode, and it will be located in one of the congested districts. If it proves a success a "center" will be established in every "poor" district in the greater city.

HEIRESS HAS CARLOAD OF SPRING FINERY.

(Mrs. Malcolm Whitman.)

San Francisco, April 9.—Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, formerly Miss Jennie Crocker, has returned from her annual spring shopping expedition in New York with a carload of spring finery, including the very latest importations of feminine apparel from Paris. The shipment includes hats, dresses for morning and afternoon wear, walking and riding costume, beautiful ball gowns, cloaks, scarfs and an abundance of other dainties that are dear to every feminine heart. Mrs. Whitman is in her own right a multi-millionaire and one of her hobbies is to go to New York to do her spring shopping.

All Cooks Look Alike

to the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "kitchen queen" quits suddenly and the table looks anything but satisfying to a zestful appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Cent-a-Word Department.

Odd Happening.

Minister (announcing from pulpit)—"I will add that a lady's watch has been found in one of the aisles, which the owner can have by applying at the vestry. We will now sing the one hundred and seventeenth hymn: 'Lord, Her Watch Thy Church Is Keeping.'—Exchange.

Ashes of the Great.

The city republic of Florence gathered her famous dead at Santa Croce, save "the all Etruscan three," Dante, Petrarch and Boccaccio. England has made Westminster abbey the burial place of such men as Chaucer, Spenser, Newton, Darwin and Tennyson, besides a baker's dozen of kings. But in America the ashes of the great are scattered far and wide. Washington rests at Mount Vernon, Va.; Lincoln at Springfield, Ill. The tomb of Paul Jones is an inspiration to students in the naval academy at Annapolis. Poe sleeps at Baltimore; Mark Twain at Elmira, N. Y.; Alexander Hamilton in old Trinity churchyard, surrounded by towering skyscrapers which embody his philosophy of life and government. Is not America's way the best? England and Florence make things harder for the tourist, but is he the chief person to consider? Since our heroes come from all the land is it not best that their ashes return to the soil from which they spring, till youth in every neighborhood has some reminder of public service and noble work?—Chicago Journal.

The Torment of Cold.

I thank heaven that I know what it is to be cold, to be cold from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, to be cold from the cuticle in the heart, and from the heart to the soul. I thank heaven for it, because, knowing this, I have a new revelation of the possibility of suffering, and I am able to find a paradise in a common wood fire.

Knowing this, I declare to you there is not a more pathetic sight in the world than a poor man who is thoroughly cold from week to week. It is the refinement of torture.

It does not gnaw like hunger, which presently becomes a sort of insanity and relieves itself. It is a dead, unblest, icy torment. I used to see men in the army whose silent endurance of cold brought more tears to my eyes than all the hunger and all the wounds. —Sidney Lanier.

A Candidate's Revenge.

French electors occasionally have some home truths thrown at them by candidates who fail to secure enough votes. At one general election M. Albert Normand, a chemist and druggist, who was a candidate for deputy from Montagne, received only six votes and issued an address thanking "the six electors who showed their confidence in me. They are the only solvent citizens in the constituency, and I beg to assure them of my esteem. As for the others, I hereby give them notice that in future all attempts to obtain credit at my establishment will be relentlessly refused. During the last nine years they have robbed me of about 3,000 francs in bad debts, which I have taken no steps to recover. Yet when an opportunity is afforded of showing their appreciation of my leniency I meet with the basest ingratitude."

FIGHTING DISEASE AS FIREMEN FIGHT FIRE.

(This is the Proper Way to Bathe a Baby.)

New York has a new idea about fighting sickness and is doing what no other city has yet done—that is fighting disease the way firemen fight fire and getting it at the start. The health department has undertaken a great deal of "preventive work," especially with regard to tuberculosis, and already supplies a certain amount of nursing in the home. The investigating committee realizes that it takes sympathy knowledge and good understanding to combat disease, and its idea of a "health center" is to concentrate these qualities among the tenants. There will be in traction in how to care for the baby—a child hygiene clinic—a dental clinic, a tuberculosis clinic, and a milk station like those the health department now maintains to furnish wholesome food for the infant. If the health center does what is hoped for it, it will be a sort of public neighbor, where the whole community can turn for help in sickness. A remodelled house will be the "health center's" abode, and it will be located in one of the congested districts. If it proves a success a "center" will be established in every "poor" district in the greater city.

The shipment includes hats, dresses for morning and afternoon wear, walking and riding costume, beautiful ball gowns, cloaks, scarfs and an abundance of other dainties that are dear to every feminine heart. WANT "ADS" INSERTED AT THE SMALL COST OF CENT-A-WORD

OPPOSANTS TO SUFFRAGE ACTIVE

The gradual advance and development to the work of those opposed of giving women the ballot has shown extremely rapid progress during the past year throughout the country. This fact is strikingly illustrated in the state of New Jersey. A suffrage organization has been in existence there for twenty-four years and the last census of its numbers was 7,000. Anti-suffrage forces have been organized only twenty-two months and already numbers 9,000 in its membership all over twenty-one year of age. The methods of those opposing suffrage are entirely different from those of the suffragists. With few demonstrations and apparently little activity, still the enrollment goes steadily on and when statistics are finally taken, the power of a silent majority is plainly demonstrated. During the past year Socialism with its undermining and destructive qualities and feminism bristling with domestic anarchy, alluding themselves with and unrepudiated by the suffragists have done more to swell the ranks of the opposition than all the previous arguments of women in politics.

Suffrage is becoming a means to a disastrous end and though the suffragists constantly deny their affiliations with these two bodies yet every thing points to a definite and decided support of them. On March 2 of last year a banner carried by the Socialist section of the suffragists parade read "one million Socialists will work and vote for women's suffrage." The most radical feminist literature is advertised and sold at the National Suffrage Headquarters 505 Fifth Avenue, New York. The feminist and socialistic movements are the real dangers of woman's suffrage. It would be advisable for every man and woman who feel national and civic pride for their country and their community to send to the national headquarters of the suffrage association at New York for a pamphlet called "The Good Woman" which sets forth in a startling manner the feminist ideas which if permitted to develop will bring about a more frightful sex revolution than this country has ever had the slightest conception of.

Daniel DeLeon, one of the most prominent American Socialists says: "All the facts, all the reasoning, focus into one conclusion. Woman's suffrage must take its place as an integral splinter in the torch that lights the path of the social revolution."

Socialists like Inez Mitholland, Rossetti, Mrs. Harriet Stanton, Alice Stone Blackwell and in the woman's suffrage party. Suffragists have so diversified their efforts that they seem to have lost all idea of values and appropriateness to their cause. They are willing to identify themselves with anybody or body that has a kick coming in one way or another. There is nothing that they do not request. Independence day for women is their latest appeal which in the face of our immortal fourth is a travesty on patriotism and honorable recognition of the spirit of seventy-six. There is nothing they do not assume to be past masters of in their judgment.

So manifold have been their suggestions that we are surprised at nothing they may ask or do. The majority of women are not fitted to handle the reins of government not because their intelligence is inferior to man's but through their very lack of physical force and powers of endurance. One never knows when a woman will go down under the strain of continuous responsibility. The basis of all government is force. Voting is only a method of procedure but its power lies in being backed up by physical force. Suffrage is the demand of a minority. According to suffragists 4,000,000 women are avowed voters and are demanding this for the great majority who are either opposed to it or are indifferent to it. According to actual census reports 2,500,000 is a fair estimate of those who really have this power. There are about 25,000,000 women in the United States. Is there any justice in so small a minority forcing it upon a majority of such size. The great advance of women in the past century has been made certainly without the vote. Is the progress of women going to halt because she cannot now cast the ballot? The vote has not found a cure for all existing evils with men and we find no reason that it would be more effectual with women. Voting will hinder uplift work and community welfare by the very fact of its partisanship. Why is it necessary to make politicians of the women in matters of education, charity and reform. Unhindered by the vote, she can appeal to any party in power and carry on her work absolutely upon the merits of the reform itself.

Mrs. Putnam of Massachusetts has accomplished wonders in the way of pure milk supply and the men of power were only too glad to give her every opportunity and assistance for the very reason that such work would be taken out of politics. How different is this condition. In Massachusetts, a male suffrage state to that of California, a woman suffrage state. In a letter written by Nathan Strauss recently to the Los Angeles Times, he says, "California is one of the few states where milk from tubercular cows is permitted to be sold. This is downright criminal." The comparison is not flattering to the woman's vote or to the woman voting. Our fathers, husbands, brothers and sons represent us at the ballot box as we represent them in the home. Only by each doing his special work can home and state reach its highest development. If the suffragists carry their principles to a final analysis, they may bring back chaos but they cannot re-create woman.

MRS. JOSEPH M. STODDARD, Member of executive board of District of Columbia Association opposed to woman suffrage.

MAY BAR CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS OUT

The Rev. Dr. Leeper Starts Something in the Y. M. C. A. and a Meeting is Called to Discuss it.

Shall the Christian Scientists be allowed the use of the Y. M. C. A. Hall for a Christian Science lecture? That is the question being discussed by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. and the clergy of the city at a meeting held this afternoon. The Christian Scientists had hired the hall for a lecture next week. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of the First Reformed Church, opposed this and was instrumental in calling the meeting held this afternoon. The outcome will be awaited with great interest.

Another Crazy New Sect.

Mount Airy, Ga., April 10.—So frenzied have become the followers of 19 year old Mary Ward, who claims to be "divine" and who has founded a new sect, that guards were today placed about a tent in which the religious services are being conducted daily. Whole families are flocking here from all over Georgia. One of the chief tenets of the new religion is fasting.

Burns Badly Beaten.

"Paddy" Burns, a well known character, got a terrible beating on West Strand on Thursday night when he was attacked by two young fellows and kicked and thrown over the sidewalk and road. Burns was a sight when he was pulled to his feet, blood streaming from several cuts in his head. The trio after some words went off arm in arm. No arrests have yet been made.

OPPOSENTS TO SUFFRAGE ACTIVE

The gradual advance and development to the work of those opposed of giving women the ballot has shown extremely rapid progress during the past year throughout the country. This fact is strikingly illustrated in the state of New Jersey. A suffrage organization has been in existence there for twenty-four years and the last census of its numbers was 7,000. Anti-suffrage forces have been organized only twenty-two months and already numbers 9,000 in its membership all over twenty-one year of age. The methods of those opposing suffrage are entirely different from those of the suffragists. With few demonstrations and apparently little activity, still the enrollment goes steadily on and when statistics are finally taken, the power of a silent majority is plainly demonstrated. During the past year Socialism with its undermining and destructive qualities and feminism with domestic anarchy, alluring themselves with and unopposed by the suffragists have done more to swell the ranks of the opposition than all the previous arguments of women in politics.

Suffrage is becoming a means to a disastrous end and though the suffragists constantly deny their affiliations with these two bodies yet every thing points to a definite and decided support of them. On March 3 of last year a banner carried by the Socialist section of the suffragists parade read "one million Socialists will work and vote for women's suffrage." The most radical feminist literature is advertised and sold at the National Suffrage Headquarters 505 Fifth Avenue, New York. The feminist and socialist movements are the real dangers of woman suffrage. It would be advisable for every man and woman who feel national and civic pride for their country and their community to send to the national headquarters of the suffrage association at New York for a pamphlet called "The Road Woman" which sets forth in a startling manner the feminist ideas which if permitted to develop will bring about a more frightful sex revolution than this country has ever had the slightest conception of.

Daniel DeLeon, one of the most prominent American Socialists says: "All the facts, all the reasoning, focus into one conclusion. Woman suffrage must take its place as an integral splinter in the torch that lights the path of the social revolution."

Socialists like Inez Milholland Bolivar, Mrs. Harriet Stanton March, Alice Stone Blackwell and in the woman suffrage party. The suffragists have so diversified their efforts that they seem to have lost all idea of values and appropriateness to their cause. They are willing to identify themselves with anybody or body that has a kick coming in one way or another. There is nothing that they do not request. Independence day for women is their latest appeal which in the face of our immortal fourth is a travesty on patriotism and honorable recognition of the spirit of seventy-six. There is nothing they do not assume to be past masters of in their judgment.

So manifold have been their suggestions that we are surprised at nothing they may ask or do. The majority of women are not fitted to handle the reins of government not because their intelligence is inferior to man's but through their very lack of physical force and powers of endurance. One never knows when a woman will go down under the strain of continuous responsibility. The basis of all government is force. Voting is only a method of procedure but its power lies in being backed up by physical force. Suffrage is the demand of a minority. According to suffragists 4,000,000 women are avowed voters and are demanding this for the great majority who are either opposed to it or are indifferent to it. According to actual census reports 2,500,000 is a fair estimate of those who really have this power. There are about 25,000,000 women in the United States. Is there any justice in so small a minority forcing it upon a majority of such size. The great advance of women in the past century has been made certainly without the vote. Is the progress of women going to halt because she cannot now cast the ballot? The vote has not found a cure for all existing evils with men and we find no reason that it would be more effectual with women. Voting will hinder uplift work and community welfare by the very fact of its partisanship. Why is it necessary to make politicians of the women in matters of education, charity and reform. Unhindered by the vote, she can appeal to any party in power and carry on her work absolutely upon the merits of the reform itself.

Mrs. Putnam of Massachusetts has accomplished wonders in the way of pure milk supply and the men of power were only too glad to give her every opportunity and assistance for the very reason that such work would be taken out of politics. How different is this condition in Massachusetts, a male suffrage state to that of California, a woman suffrage state. In a letter written by Nathan Strauss recently to the Los Angeles Times, he says, "California is one of the few states where milk from tubercular cows is permitted to be sold. This is downright criminal." The comparison is not flattering to the woman's vote or to the woman voting. Our fathers, husbands, brothers and sons represent us at the ballot box as we represent them in the home. Only by each doing his special work can home and state reach its highest development. If the suffragists carry their principles to a final analysis, they may bring back chaos but they cannot re-create woman.

MRS. JOSEPH M. STODDARD, Member of executive board of District of Columbia Association opposed to woman suffrage.

MAY BAR CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS OUT

The Rev. Dr. Leeper Starts Something in the Y. M. C. A. and a Meeting is Called to Discuss it.

Shall the Christian Scientists be allowed the use of the Y. M. C. A. Hall for a Christian Science lecture? That is the question being discussed by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. and the clergy of the city at a meeting held this afternoon. The Christian Scientists had hired the hall for a lecture next week. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of the First Reformed Church, opposed this and was instrumental in calling the meeting held this afternoon. The outcome will be awaited with great interest.
